

Sarah Campbell
SUNY Stony Brook

My name is Sarah Campbell. I am a graduate student at SUNY Stony Brook in the Physics Department and a member of the PHENIX experiment in RHIC. Before entering graduate school, I grew up in Silver Spring, MD and graduated from Grinnell College (2002). I would like to be the graduate student/post doc representative to the User's Executive Council.

I will represent your concerns to BNL management, particularly about the availability of access to the BNL site and the quality of life on campus. I am excited about the political activism that the UEC has taken on as part of its role by lobbying the government to encourage financial support of RHIC and the AGS. As a member of the UEC, I will work to continue this activism. Also I look forward to helping organize the Annual User's Meeting, particularly the student poster session. Of all of these tasks, I think that the most important role is as a representative, whether I am representing your concerns to BNL management or funding concerns to government officials. Please let me represent you.
